13 & 14 December at Montpellier Exhibition Centre, France

EnerGaïa 2023: tangible solutions for the near future

The only tradeshow in France to address all forms of renewable energy, EnerGaïa will take place on 13 & 14 December at Montpellier Exhibition Centre. Sponsored by the Occitanie / Pyrénées-Méditerranée Regional Council, Forum EnerGaïa has over the years cemented its status as a major international event for renewables professionals. This year's edition will offer solutions to accelerate the adoption of renewable energy in light of the energy emergency.

An event that has doubled in size in two years

This year the show will feature 400 exhibitors, 100 talks, workshops and pitches, the opening of a fourth hall, 14,000 professionals expected, and three major pavilions (Sustainable mobility & transport, Sustainable buildings, Jobs & Training forum).

An opening talk directed at the younger generation

Young people and businesses at the heart of the transition: improving how we live and work tomorrow.

The younger generation will bear the full brunt of the effects of climate change, and it will be up to them to continue efforts to build a sustainable society. The opening plenary will look into the desirable changes in work, the demands of young people and the meaning of a genuine corporate social responsibility. It will welcome the philosopher and sociologist Dominique Méda, and the journalist Salomé Saque who recently published her book Sois jeune et tais-toi. Other personalities will join them to discuss this burning topic.
